CONSIDER THIS

Beverly and I have taken two trips to Texas this year by automobile, and as much as we like travel, each trip becomes more difficult as we grow older. I have come to realize that riding a motorcycle for years has made it less likely that I will be able to relax and enjoy driving the way I used to. As a cycle rider, you learn to not trust other motorists on the road to recognize and make allowances for you. You have to constantly be at the ready to evade someone who doesn't see you, or compensate for the other guys inattention to the rules of the road. You also have a stake in the suicidal thoughts of wildlife along the way who are fed up with their lot in life. Whatever the situation, you are responsible for how the actions of others affect your health and enjoyment. That's not to say we will never travel again, but it is exhausting more than relaxing these days.

In some ways, this mirrors life in general for the serious follower of Christ. We can't just sashay through life, not paying attention to the traps and pitfalls the enemy has planned for us, but it means we must be constantly aware of the Spirit's leading, from the moment we awaken until we fall asleep at night. The enemy is seeking to devour the children of God as a lion seeks her prey. We must be constantly watching for his schemes, not only for our own benefit, but for the good of others as well. We are all in this together, that's what a Church is, after all. We are not to live in fear of the enemy, but in awareness that God has provided defense for us against the enemy, if we will just follow directions.

Pastor Sam
